Hey guys, no need to be scared.

darksea14

Venus is just a troll account. I've seen this stuff happen before. The user just started doing a form of trolling where they make a new account and act like a new person with impossibly bad grammar. Then, when they noticed the posts about Venus, they decided to go further with the trolling and change the sig and the tone of their voices. It's just a troll account. If you feel their posts are breaking the rules, report them, and then ignore them. If this Venus actually had any hacking power it would have been used already. There's no reason to freak out.

To Venus- Even I think you're starting to cross a line. If you're intending all this as a funny joke, it's time to stop. I get it: I even did the same thing once, just intending to be funny, but it went really badly. For your own good, I'm advising you to stop before you get banned. If you're doing this to troll people, then by all means keep posting, but sooner or later you are going to get banned for this if you don't stop.

Never be afraid to be yourself,
For we're all wonderfully unique,
In our own way.
